ARTWORK STORY

Baray – “Country”. Enthralling and intricate, this artwork uses traditional Aboriginal dot painting to represent a birds-eye-view of one of Australia’s precious landscapes. Using classic complementary colours, this piece brings together blue and orange shades, a symbol of connection and harmony much like the way we all connect with our own homeland – a place we go to heal, when we close our eyes and smell the air. With its organic details and handmade feel, this piece reminds us of the overwhelming peace we feel in our mind and heart as we know we are finally home.

Biripi Artist and traditional weaver, Joedie Lawler brings immense passion and heart to each one of her contemporary masterpieces. As well as a series of spectacular Aboriginal paintings, she has also delivered various commercial commissions using raw materials such as glass and fabric. Since learning her craft from a young age, closely taught by her grandmother in Taree, Joedie continues to express her views and thoughts through her original works of art. Using knowledge and experience from her upbringing, Joedie’s pieces often reflect her interest in human connection and environmental importance. No matter what she creates, Joedie hopes every viewer can connect with her work and find just as much peace in it as she feels the moment she puts paint to canvas.
